

Michael Turner

Short biography

Professor Michael Turner trained in obstetrics and gynaecology in Dublin and London. He was appointed a consultant in the Coombe Women and Infants University Hospital in 1990 and was elected Master for a seven year term in 1992. In 2006, he was appointed the UCD Professor of Obstetrics and Gynaecology at the Coombe. He is Director of the UCD Centre for Human Reproduction which he established in 2007. The Centre's research focus is on the modifiable risk factors for pregnancy and on maternity services analysis. From 2010 to 2019 he served as the first Director of the National Clinical Programme in Obstetrics and Gynaecology for the Health Services Executive. He is a member of professional bodies in Ireland, Britain and the United States of America and to date, is an author on about 400 publications.